City of Metropolis Also Has Its Water Problems

WATER DEPT.: Harrisburg has its water problems because of lack of water, but did you know that Metropolis, with the Ohio river right there, is having its troubles? Yep.

There's no shortage, of course, in one sense of the word, but there's a shortage, nevertheless. It's caused by lack of water pressure.

The Metropolis News reports that although there's plenty of water at the source, residents in many areas of the city can hardly draw enough water to flush a toilet or take a bath.

And Opal reports that Nome, Alaska, has its water problem although the Bering sea is at the front door and snow covered hills rise out behind the back door.

The permafrost, which varies in thickness up to 400 feet, prevents well digging.

In Nome you buy your water at one dollar for 12 five-gallon buckets.

THIS SHOULD BE A "we Grow 'em Bigger Dept." but can't be because it was grown at Sesser.

I'm speaking of a red radish I saw the other day that looked more like a winesap. It was eight inches around and solid.

This radish was grown by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Smith of Sesser, former residents of the Saline Four community. Their daughter, Mrs. Charles "Buck" Cannon, showed it to me.

INFORMATION DEPT.: You've been reading a lot about trying to find a site for the new Air Academy, and when it's finally decided upon and built, there'll be room for 300 cadets.

This academy, similar to West Point and Annapolis, is scheduled to open in July, 1955.

Illinois will have 13 of the 300. Each senator and congressman is entitled to submit 10 names, making a total of 270 boys eligible to compete for the 13 cadetships. Those making the highest marks will receive the appointments.

To you lads who would like to go: Now is the time to start preparing for stiff mental and physical examinations. Now is the time to get that political pull to working.

Just in case you're interested, and to beat all opposition (except the City Schools Bulletin) to the school, school next fall will start Sept. 1, and the Christmas Vacation will last from Dec. 22 to Jan. 3.

HUMOR DEPT.: Mother made the mistake of leaving the baby in her husband's care while she went out into the back yard to hang up a washing. Father buried himself behind the newspaper and forgot all about the baby until he heard a series of thumps and a horrendous wail.

"Martha!" the father called excitedly to his wife as he ran to the back door. "Come quick! Junior just took his first 23 steps!"

Chas. H. Thompson Is Named to Committee to Improve Criminal Code

Former Supreme Court Judge Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg has been named by the Illinois State Bar association to a 16-member committee to improve and streamline the state's code of criminal law.

The committee was named at the request of the Illinois Supreme Court.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Walter V. Schaefer and other judges had noted that the criminal code, drawn up in the 1870's, had been amended and enlarged without regard to inconsistencies and duplications.

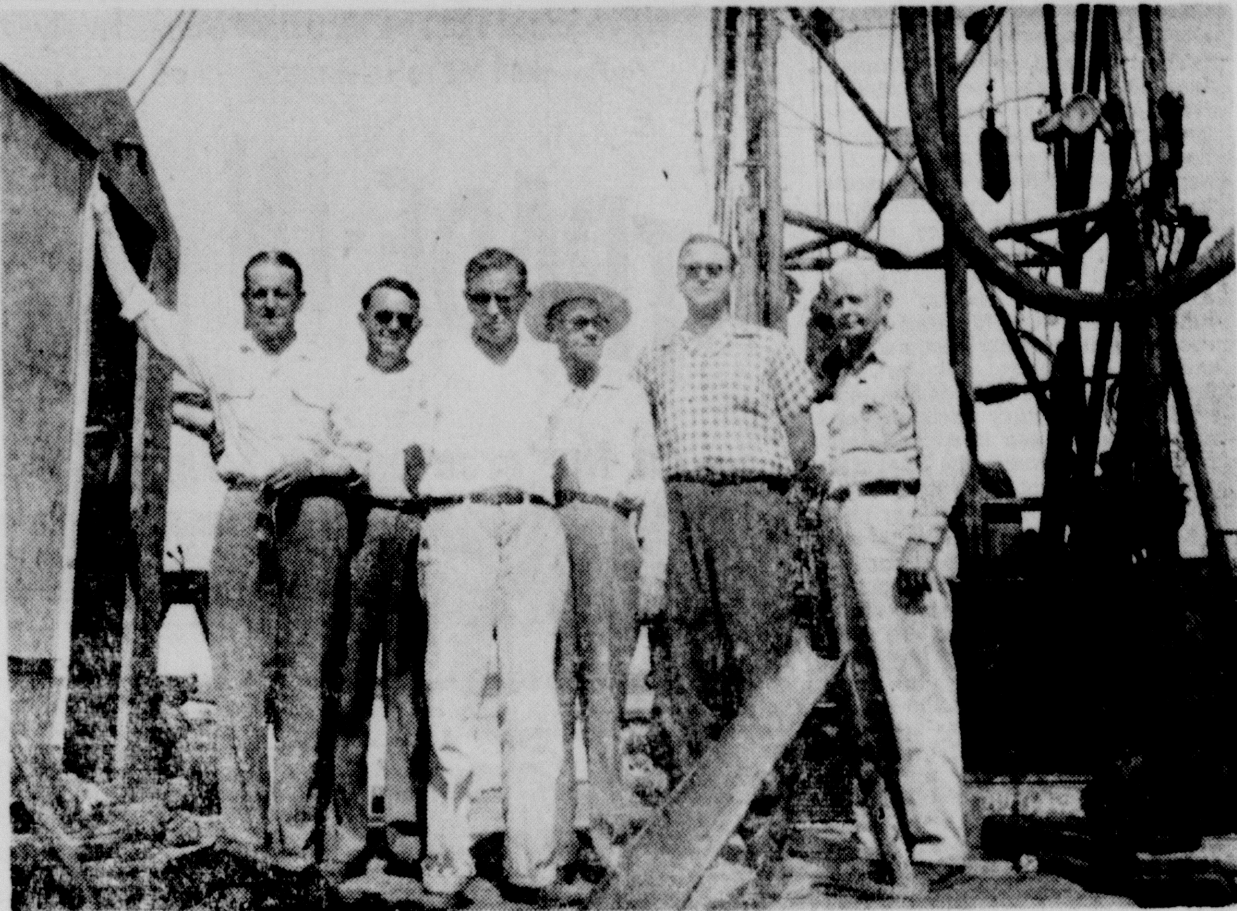

Schaefer pointed out that penalties for less serious offenses were frequently greater than punishment for graver violations.

Linda Veatch Is Junior High Valedictorian At Anchorage, Alaska

A former student in the Harrisburg Junior high school will be valedictorian of the Junior high school graduating class at Anchorage, Alaska.

Linda Veatch, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles Veatch, will graduate from the Anchorage school with the highest grade in the class.

The Veatches are natives of Harrisburg, but Col. Veatch, who has been in military service for many years, is now stationed at the Anchorage, Alaska, base.

Oil Drilling Operations on Smith Farm May be Opening of New Field

By Alta Porter
What could easily be the opening of a new oil field south of Harrisburg was the commencement of operations this week for a well to be drilled on the A. L. (Dolph) Smith farm in the SW¹/₄ of SW¹/₄ of Section 2-10S-6E, Independence township, about three miles south of Harrisburg and a mile east of State Route 34 and Saline Ridge church.

During the summer of 1928, a well was drilled on this same farm by Rodger, Rumsey and Barnes, using the old type cable-tool drilling equipment. As the tools were getting into the oil sand, they struck a terrific gas flow which caught

Gunmen Hold up Paducah Bank

PADUCAH, Ky.—State police and the FBI today joined in a search for two unmasked gunmen who Tuesday held up a branch of the Peoples First National Bank & Trust Co. here and made off with more than $25,000.

Bank President John Russell first estimated the loss at $5,000 but later revised it to $25,000. However, the exact amount taken was not known.

It was Paducah's first bank hold-up in 24 years.

Two cashiers, Mrs. Dorothy Bundy and Beatty Murphy were counting money when the two unmasked men entered and ordered them to lie down on the floor. After they heard the men drive away, the cashiers called police.

The auto the gunmen used in staging the holdup was stolen several hours earlier from a parking area in front of a high school. It was abandoned in Paducah where the bandits were thought to have transferred to another automobile.

11 Puerto Rican Fanatics Are Seized by FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today seized 11 leaders of the fanatical Puerto Rican Nationalist party, including the wife of assassin Oscar Collazo, on charges of plotting the overthrow of the U. S. government.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. announced that six of the arrests were made in Chicago, four in New York and one in Puerto Rico.

Sedition charges simultaneously were lodged against six other Puerto Rican Nationalists already in custody, including the four who sprayed the House of Representatives chamber with bullets on Mar. 1 and wounded five congressmen.

Seize Mrs. Collazo in New York
One of those arrested in New York was Mrs. Rosa Collazo, 43-year-old wife of Oscar Collazo, who now is serving a life sentence for his part in the attempted assassination of President Truman on Nov. 1, 1950.

A White House policeman, Leslie Coffelt, was killed when Collazo and another Puerto Rican tried to shoot their way into Blair House where Mr. Truman was taking a nap. The other assassin, Griselio Torresola, was killed in the gun battle.

The roundup of Nationalist leaders climaxed by today's arrests began shortly after the attack on the House chamber March 1. Police in San Juan, Puerto Rico, arrested Pedro Abizu Campos, 62-year-old chief of the Nationalist party, on March 6 after a two-hour gun battle with his die-hard supporters at his barricaded headquarters.

Early in March, the United Press received private advice from San Juan reporting that the shooting of the five congressmen was part of a plot to overthrow the U. S. government by wholesale assassination of its leaders.

Penalty: Six Years
If convicted on the charges of seditious conspiracy lodged against them today, the Nationalist leaders would face a maximum penalty of six years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

The four House chamber assassins also face trial on charges of assault with intent to kill. Conviction on those charges carries a maximum penalty of 75 years in prison. The four are being held here on $100,000 bond pending their trial.

Hoover noted that the Nationalist party in Puerto Rico is on the attorney general's subversive list as an organization which seeks "to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means." He estimated total membership in the Nationalist party to be about 500.

Dr. Bunche is Confronted by Former Communists at Loyalty Board Inquiry

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, principal director of the United Nations trusteeship department, was confronted Tuesday by two former Communist leaders at a secret 12-hour inquiry by a U. S. government loyalty board.

A close associate of the Negro U. N. administrator said Bunche "welcomed the chance to clear himself."

Pierce J. Gerety, chairman of the six-man international organization's employees loyalty board, questioned Bunche in the presence of former Negro Communists Manning Johnson and Leonard Patterson who have given information to several congressional investigating committees concerning Communist infiltration in labor unions, churches and schools.

Neither Bunche, who won the Nobel Peace prize for his role as peace-maker in the Israel-Arab conflict, nor Gerety would comment on the inquiry. Gerety said, however, that "no inference should be drawn from the fact that he (Bunche) had a meeting with the board."

Bunche's associate described the inquiry as "rough and tough" at times.

"Of course, like many other people, Dr. Bunche has been associated with Communists in the past," the associate said. "He is confident that he will be cleared quickly."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has investigated the records of 1,760 American employees at the United Nations to check their loyalties. Of these, only 32 cases have been considered serious enough to be heard by the loyalty board.

Bunche's name was injected into testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee last October when Jack S. Harris, senior officer of the trusteeship division's research section, admitted that Bunche sponsored him for employment at the United Nations.

Harris was fired as a result of his refusal to tell the subcommittee whether he was a Communist at the time he was testifying. Bunche stated that he hired Harris simply on the basis of his qualifications as an "expert" on trusteeship matters.

Bunche goes to Washington tonight to attend President Eisenhower's state dinner for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

Frank Woods, Sahara President, Outlines Coal Problems to Kiwanis

A plea for sympathetic understanding of the problems facing the coal industry to help it through the present difficult times was made last night by Frank Woods, president of the Sahara Coal company, in an address to members of the Kiwanis club at the Masonic temple.

Woods said that the coal industry has increased to 40 cents per ton, coal prices have not increased and in some cases are even lower.

He stated that while the coal traffic is the most profitable for the rail industry, freight rates remain high and are even as much as double the price of coal at the mine.

The companies get the blame for high coal prices, but most of the increases have come from other sources, he said.

The coal industry is seeking low fares and has increased to 40 cents per ton, coal prices have not increased and in some cases are even lower.

Mr. Woods outlined the problems faced by the coal industry and gave his views for the future of the industry in his address.

He pointed to the loss of two major markets — the railroads and the home owners — and the search by the industry for other markets to replace these losses.

Electric Companies Large Users
The Sahara Coal company is observing its 50th year in Saline county. Mr. Woods stated. It has lived through rough times and is rugged enough to meet present conditions, he added.

For the future, Mr. Woods said, the electric power companies are the fastest growing users of coal and within the next few years will take half of the coal produced.

If transportation costs can be reduced the kilowatt hours produced from coal will be increased.

The Atomic Energy Commission will be the largest customer, even in the peaceful production of power, Mr. Woods stated.

The United States already is an importer of oil and imports will increase to meet future demands, Mr. Woods stated. He stated it is obviously unwise for this nation to depend on other countries for oil and in the future it would be forced to depend on the coal industry for the production of liquid fuel and other chemicals.

Need Friendly Cooperation
But, he said, the coal business today is off and companies are fighting for their share of the tonnage produced. The problem is to keep going to have the advantage of the future markets, he said.

He stated the Sahara Coal company seeks to provide steady jobs and income for its employees in Saline county, but it needs the friendly cooperation of both its employees and all others in the county.

Saline county does not have to lure industry with promises of tax reductions and buildings. It already has a big industry — the coal industry, he said. Its payrolls and taxes provide money for schools and communities throughout the county. Mr. Woods stated.

Mr. Woods stated that while the average miner makes $5.25 more per day than in 1948, and the wel-

Fire Turns Ship Into Inferno; 125 Injured

Carrier Bennington Rocked by Explosion Off Eastern Coast

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—Approximately 100 men were killed and 125 injured early today in a blast-punctured fire that turned the inside of the big aircraft carrier Bennington into an inferno.

Casualties were placed at those figures early this afternoon by Capt. William R. Raborn, commander of the Bennington, after he brought his fire-scarred ship to port here.

Raborn said 25 or 30 of those hurt have more than minor injuries. There was no indication as to when the Navy would release the names of the dead and injured.

The fire, which raged out of control for four hours, was touched off by a steam turbine generator explosion that rocked the mighty warship while it was sailing off the Eastern coast toward this home port.

Veritable Death Ship
The engine room "looked like hell," said Aviation Electricians Mate Third Class Francis Toth of Phoenixville, Pa. "Everyone I pulled out was dead."

The carrier, affectionately dubbed "Big Ben" by its 2,300 officers and crew, docked here about seven hours after the fire — a veritable death ship.

The disastrous blaze broke out at 6 a. m., chow lines for many of the men. It roared through the portside forward section, trapping scores of ship personnel.

At the time of the fire the Bennington was 75 miles south of Newport, R. I.

The disaster shocked the nation. President Offers Sympathy

In Washington, President Eisenhower offered his sympathy to families of those who were killed or injured. The President said a Navy inquiry into the disaster would begin immediately.

Raborn praised his crew. He said they reacted with remarkable feats of heroism.

One seaman, Bruno Costantini, Detroit, Mich., said many of the men were in their bunks when the fire started. Costantini said he raced to the hangar deck and helped pull out 10 of his shipmates.

It was the worst peacetime naval disaster since April 26, 1952, when the carrier Wasp and destroyer Hobson collided with loss of 176 lives.

Names of the dead and injured were withheld temporarily.

A big emergency corps of doctors and nurses was on hand as the stricken carrier arrived here after what was to have been a routine training cruise from Norfolk, Va., to Quonset when the disaster occurred.

Survivors of the more seriously injured had been removed from the Bennington at sea and flown by helicopter to Newport, R. I., for hospitalization.

The Bennington, a 10-year-old warship displacing 33,100 tons and 899 feet long, was en route from Norfolk, Va., to Quonset when the disaster occurred.

Built at the Brooklyn Naval Shipyard and commissioned in late 1944, the Bennington was named for the Battle of Bennington which occurred in Vermont during the American Revolution.

Funds Sought to Investigate Unemployment Fraud Cases

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The
federal-state unemployment insurance system is wearing a nasty black eye these days.

It results from charges or suspicions that an estimated 176,000 American working people out of the four million who collected unemployment insurance last year
may have obtained up to $75 apiece through fraud or overpayment by state agencies handling the claims.

Total of overpayment is variously estimated at $13 million to $22 million.

These estimates have emerged from a "wild guess" made by Robert C. Goodwin, federal administrator of the Bureau of Employment Security in Department of Labor.

GOODWIN HAD MADE his estimates on the basis of 42 cases of fraud and 23 additional cases of improper payment. These cases were discovered in a survey of only 950 cases investigated among all the 37 million U. S. workers now covered by unemployment insurance.

This is considered too small a sample to show the real situation.
To get accurate figures on how prevalent fraud may be nationally, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has asked Congress for authority to make a real survey next year. This survey would cover from 100,000 to 200,000 cases in all 48 states and cost around $2.5 million.

The existence of fraud in filing unemployment insurance claims has always been a threat to the system, says Goodwin. All the state laws have penalties for fraudulent claims. There have been many convictions.

Last year the states reported
just under 40,000 cases of detected fraud, involving nearly $3 million in overpayments. But $1,700,000, or nearly 60 per cent, of this total was recovered.

THESE FIGURES COVER only
the cases discovered, however.
How many more slipped through for lack of proper inspection and audit is unknown. The purpose of the big survey will be to find how to prevent them in the future.

In most of the cases, Goodwin believes, deliberate fraud was not the cause of overpayment. It was more misunderstanding of rights and responsibilities under the unemployment insurance plan. He cites a few typical cases to show how it works.

Suppose Joe Blow, a highly skilled glass worker, is laid off three or four weeks. His state law may require that, to receive unemployment insurance benefits, he must actively seek other work.

Being a skilled craftsman, he may not want to take up street sweeping. The state law may not require that he seek work outside his own trade. So he reports no other suitable work can be found and files a claim.

Collusion between employer and employee may sometimes be responsible for fraud. Rosie A. River may be getting married. The boss likes Rosie and may want her back on the job after the honeymoon. So he may let her claim she has been laid off for a couple of weeks, to collect unemployment insurance while she's on her honeymoon.

STILL ANOTHER TYPE of fraud that has to be checked is non-payment of payroll taxes by employers, employer provocation of labor disputes in anticipation of slack work periods, or contesting of claims by employers to gain higher experience ratings.

Nearly all cases are for relatively small amounts of money,
though they add up to big totals.
County prosecuting attorneys and state court judges don't like to handle these little cases. Also, it's unpleasant to have to force collection of an overpayment from someone who is out of work and down on his luck to begin with.

It is admitted that there has been an increase in unemployment insurance fraud cases over the past year. One reason is that unemployment has been higher and the temptation to file a claim for more than is due, or all that can be collected, is natural.

The state lawmakers apparently recognized that unemployment insurance is a major means of stabilizing business. In the first three months of 1954 the whole federal-state system pumped over half a billion dollars back into the national economy. And for the individual worker, that system can be his best friend in time of great need.

Bona Fide Federated Club
Celebrates 14th Anniversary

The Bona Fide Federated club celebrated its 14th anniversary Friday evening at Mt. Pleasant Baptist church.

The opening song, "America," was sung by the group with Wanda Jean Canterbury at the piano. The scripture was read by the chaplain, Mrs. Willie Lowe.

Mrs. Lela Garnett gave the welcoming address, and the history of the club was given by Mrs. Portee Allen who told of the organization in 1940 under the leadership of Mrs.
Love Renfro. The first president was Mrs. Lowe. Mrs. Garnett listed the activities to which the club donated money: Red Cross, polio fund, cancer, tuberculosis, Salvation Army, Christmas cheer to sick and shut-ins, Douglas Home, and the scholarship fund.

Different members in the club
have held state offices in the district were Mrs. Garnett, treasurer for four years; and Mrs. Allen, chaplain for two years. The new chaplain is Mrs. James North.
Mrs. Genevieve Winston was re-elected financial secretary.

The president introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Clara Kirt, Marion, who gave an interesting talk to the club and to the Mrs.
Club of Carrier Mills which participated in the anniversary celebration. Mrs. Courtney Owens is president of the Carrier Mills club.

Following the talk the president presented Mrs. Kirt and all of the past presidents with a corsage.
The past presidents are Mrs. Willie Lowe, Mrs. Portee Allen, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mrs. Ruby Jones, and Mrs. Gertrude North. Mrs. Winston present now, was also presented a corsage.

All of the club members were present: Mrs. Lorene Mayberry, assistant secretary, Mrs. Mable

Bishop Oxnan Hits 'Ignoramuses' On Committees

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)— Bishop
G. Bromley Oxnan says "ignoramuses on investigating committees" may soon "suggest our blessed Lord was subversive."

Before some 4,000 Methodists, Ox-nan Tuesday night berated those who would strike "peace from their vocabulary" because the Communists have sought to take over the world.

"There are too many self-appointed patriots, too many pagan commentators, too many ignoramuses on investigating committees, who, unacquainted with the demands of the Christian faith, call Christians Communists because they they happen to use words that the Communists have sought to take over," Oxnan said.

He quoted Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities
as saying those who criticize congressional committees with such terms as "Red baiting" are following the Communist line.

"Such a man will soon be telling us that Moses must have read Marx," Oxnan said. "Didn't Moses stand before a king and say, 'Let my people go?'"

"Soon such individuals will suggest our blessed Lord was subversive," Oxnan said.

Oil Operations May Open New Field (Continued from Page One)

first place, certainly no one can put it there, but the process is very successful in getting the oil out of sand bodies which are too hard and tight to permit the oil to gravitate through the sand naturally.

Secure Leases
A couple of months ago, A. L.
Smith, on whose land this well is being drilled, interested Joe Ashoff, an oil operator of Carmi, in the possibilities of the area. After much research and study of all available information about the old wells drilled in the area, Mr. Ashoff agreed to drill a well providing he could secure sufficient oil and gas leases to justify the gamble. Mr.
Smith and Tom Wolf of the Coca Cola Bottling company eventually turned over some 1,000 acres of leases to Mr. Ashoff.

The Hoagland Drilling Company,
Inc., of Lafayette, Ind., headed by Dan Hoagland, is the drilling contractor on the well. Mr. Hoagland has drilled wells in California, Texas, Indiana, Illinois and recently has been drilling and developing oil properties in Eastern Indiana and Ohio, headquarters in Portland, Ind. The company operates a highly portable rotary drilling machine, and it is the intention to core and thoroughly test any formations having any oil showings.
Mr. Hoagland states he is thorowly convinced, if they encounter any sand which is too hard and tight to produce normally, the Hydrofrac method will bring it into production.

Mr. Ashoff has been connected with the oil business since 1920 in Oklahoma, and altogether has operated in some 10 different states during the past 30 years. It is his opinion that many more producing oil fields will be found in Saline county, as he points out the recently-discovered oil pools northeast of Raleigh, north of Eldorado and east of Eldorado, where some wonderful wells have been completed during the past several months in drilled over the past years before the Hydrofrac method was developed.

Saline county hasn't been looked upon too favorably in the past by geologists due to its proximity to the Shawneetown-Cottage Grove Fault, resulting in many faults and cross-faults and not enough wells have been drilled to give any accurate subsurface information on the county. However, such cross-faulting in other areas has resulted in wonderful traps for the accumulation of oil. However, each well drilled adds that much geological knowledge to the records and wildcating ten years from now will be less hazardous than it is now; however, as in all pioneering endeavors, it takes courage, foresight and working capital to lead the way.

It is Mr. Ashoff's opinion that many wildcat wells will be drilled in Saline county during the next few years, providing, however (and he emphasizes that this is very important) that the oil operator secures the necessary cooperation from the landowner in the matter of leasing. Due to the many factors involved, including the time and effort required to assemble a block of oil and gas leases, the oil operator is often discouraged from drilling wells in a new territory by demands made for lease bonuses and immediate drilling commitments.

Most oil men know what they're doing and will get the job done if the landowners will cooperate, he insists.

Mr. Ashoff states that, even if this first operation does not prove successful but would have suffi-

Miss Betty Ruth Scherrer, George Richard Rister Wed at Shawneetown

Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Rister

Miss Betty Ruth Scherrer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan S. Scherrer, Shawneetown, became the bride of George Richard Rister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rister, Sunday, May 23, in a 2 o'clock ceremony.

The double ring service was held in the First Baptist church in Shawneetown with the Rev. Dale Crockett officiating.

The bride, escorted by her father to the altar which was draped in white and decorated with mock orange, honeysuckle and pink radiant roses, chose for her wedding gown a white satin, fashioned princess style with long pointed sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion secured to lily of the valley, and carried a bouquet of white roses on a white ribbon.

The bride's cousin, Nannie Stubbs, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of blue nylon over taffeta and a corsage of pink carnations.

Robert M. Rister, brother of the bridegroom, Shawneetown, served as best man. Another brother, William Rister, acted as usher.

The soloist, Mrs. Ruth Crockett, sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Naomi Norman at the organ.

The bride's mother was dressed in a dress of blue lace over taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Rister, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gray nylon dress with pink and white accessories.

A reception immediately followed the wedding at the home of the

Delta Alpha Chapter Installs Officers in Candlelight Ceremony

Officers of Delta Alpha chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority, were installed Monday evening, May 24, following the regular meeting at Mitchell-Carnegie library.

During the business session annual reports were submitted. It was voted to sponsor a Teen Town as one of the future philanthropic projects. Mrs. Clyde Pittman, Mrs. Don Raymer and Mrs. J. D. Barter were elected members of the auditing committee.

At the chapter's previous meeting officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. John Humm was chosen as delegate to the national convention to be held in Chicago in July. Mrs. John VanderPlum was named alternate. An associate membership was granted to Mrs. Garrett Crews.

The following officers were installed in an impressive candlelight ceremony conducted by Mrs. Morris Skaggs, past president, assisted by Mrs. Pittman as acting sergeant-at-arms: Mrs. John Humm, president; Mrs. Bert Gaskins Jr., vice president; Mrs. John Foster, recording secretary; Mrs. Pat Sullivan, corresponding secretary; Miss Barbara Thompson, treasurer; Mrs. Sam Leberman, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Andy Anderson, pledge supervisor, and Mrs. Howard Coyle, publicity chairman.

Following the installation, Mrs. Humm presented Mrs. Gaskins, outgoing president, with a wrought iron tray on behalf of the chapter. Mrs. Gaskins expressed her appreciation to members for their cooperation during the past year and donated a check to be used to purchase chapter paraphernalia.

All members then went to the home of Mrs. J. V. Capel, 121 South Main, for a delightful party. Mrs. Roy Seright was co-hostess with Mrs. Capel; both are patronesses of Delta Alpha chapter. Assisting them were Mrs. Carl Rude and Mrs. Kenneth Capel, former chapter members. Special guests were Miss Shirley Ann Gaskins and Mrs. Harold Holden.

The Capel residence was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion. Miniature centerpiece filled with tiny spring blooms decorated each table. The mantelpiece was a bouquet of pink roses, gift of Mrs. Capel's "Delt pal." Vases of roses graced the rooms. White rose favors, symbolic of the sorority flower, formed nut cups of the well-appointed table. A delicious dessert was served.

Mrs. B. B. Hutton was pledged as a patroness in a candlelight service by Mrs. Humm. Following a welcome to the chapter by members, Mrs. Seright conducted a humorous "pledge service by patronesses." The hilarious skit was an original one Mrs. Seright had written for the party. Dainty organically aprons were presented to Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Humm and Mrs. Gaskins by the hostesses.

Bridge and canasta followed with distinctive prizes being awarded to Miss Gaskins, Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Gean Hanselman, Mrs. Bud Adams, Mrs. VanderPlum, Miss Thompson and Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Holden won the guest prize.

Others attending were: Mrs. T. Y. Gregg Jr., Mrs. Tom McCann, Miss Mary Jean Jackson, Mrs. John Slightom, Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler, Mrs. Ken Vinyard, Mrs. Robert Rushing and Mrs. Wm. Reese.

Mrs. Sarah Reynolds Entertains Class

His disciples class of the Social Brethren church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Sarah Reynolds for its regular May social.

During the business meeting Mrs. Audrey Reed gave a devotion based on the 23rd Psalm, following which roll call was answered with questions and answers from chapters four through six of Romans.

An apron, which had been out the past three weeks for "patches," was called in and $23.75 was added to the class treasury. After the patches were ripped open Mrs. Cleo Hufstetler was the winner of the apron.

A donation of $10 was voted to aid on the purchase of a movie projector to be used in working with the young people of the church.

During the social hour games were played and Mrs. Helen Stump, Mabel Stricklin and Betty Lawless won prizes.

Refreshments of pie and coffee were served to the following Mesdames: Lucille Pansky, Marion Hale, Gladys Austin, Helen Stump, Wilma Gulley, Mabel Stricklin, Alice Wilson, Marjorie York, Cleo Hufstetler, Mabel Aldridge, Helen Gulley, Audrey Reed, Cordelia York, Lucille Dodd and daughter, Diana Dee, Pauline Durfee, Betty Lawless, Sarah Reynolds and daughter, Mary Ellen, and Nellie Fox, an especially invited guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wanless, Pontiac, Mich., are in Harrisburg visiting his father and other relatives and friends.

First Baptist Fellowship Class Has Fish Fry

The members of the Fellowship class of the First Baptist church and their families gathered at Sahara 7 picnic ground Friday evening for a fish fry.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boyett, Dickie and Jody Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Mitchell and Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Childers and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raub, Ronnie, Richard and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. James McGowan, Dr. and Mrs. John Slightom, Mary Ann and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. John VanderPlum and Jo Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Abney, Billy, Cecelia and Patricia.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beggs, Drex Ellen and Sammy, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Businaro, Charles and Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rose and Deneen, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierson, Tannis and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feazel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffiths, Verinda and Paul, Dr. and Mrs. James D. Strike Cripples Oak Ridge Project

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Construction at atomic energy projects here was crippled again today as some 800 striking laborers defied a union order to return to work and lift picket lines.

Some 6,600 craftsmen at the Y12 project and the half-billion dollar K33 gaseous diffusion plant were out today, according to an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman. He said only a small number of the force failed to honor the lines.

Thailand to Ask UN Study of Indochina War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand today was reported preparing an early appeal to the United Nations to dispatch a special investigation mission to Southeast Asia to determine whether the Indochina war threatens world peace and security.

Last-minute details on the Thai move were said by diplomatic informants to be under urgent study in Allied capitals. There were official forecasts that action would develop "very soon."

Thai Diplomat Coming
Thailand's bid may follow the arrival in New York on Friday of Thanat Khoman, deputy Thai representative to the U. N. He has been in Geneva where the ground-work for a U. N. appeal has been considered carefully in behind-the-scenes talks between Allied diplomats.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday that U. N. action is an important prerequisite of American intervention in Indochina. He said "we go in where the United Nations give moral sanction to our action." This condition would be met if the investigating team found that the war threatens peace.

Prospects Look Better
Dulles said "the prospects look somewhat better than they have recently" for possible U. N. consideration of the Indochina war. He said the United States would support an appeal for creation of a U. N. peace observation mission for Southeast Asia.

The United States and Britain meanwhile are reported threshing out the membership of military talks slated to be held soon in Washington. The talks would review military capabilities of Allied powers in Southeast Asia.

A House Big Enough

By Gudren Olson

XV

The danger of an outburst was past and Elaine tried to bring her voice into its natural range. "How is your thumb, Mrs. Dahlstrom? I see you've taken off the bandage."

Mrs. Dahlstrom put aside the spoon and placed the bowl on the kitchen table. She held out her hand for Elaine to inspect. For a second, Elaine had the fantastic notion that Mrs. Dahlstrom was like a little child begging for sympathy over a hurt finger. That notion was almost as fantastic as the sympathy Elaine herself felt, for it was more than sympathy for some little physical pain.

There was no inflammation in the thumb, and only a thin, black line showing where it had been cut. "It's nothing," Mrs. Dahlstrom declared. "It'll take a lot more than a little nick like that to get me off my feet."

Mrs. Dahlstrom busied herself again before she spoke, underscoring what she had said with physical movement. "Why don't you go upstairs and rest awhile before supper? You must have had a hard day. I'm sure you're tired."

With disbelief, Elaine noted the tone of compassion in Mrs. Dahlstrom's voice. But no, it couldn't be sincere. Mrs. Dahlstrom wasn't going to be won over that easily.

Elaine took a warm shower, re-crimsoned her lips, combed her hair. Then she lay down on the bed in her robe until Tom's and Bill's footsteps on the porch reverberated through the house. Quickly dressing, she arrived in the kitchen as Mrs. Dahlstrom put the last steaming bowl on the table.

Tom looked at her inquiringly. He seemed about to say, "I thought you were going to help Ma. Or was it a prick of her own conscience, that made her wish she had come down sooner? She should have helped somehow."

"Lenny," Tom said grandly, "Ma says you're to drive her car back and forth to school." His six feet seemed to stretch upward a little with the words.

Catching her breath in utter astonishment, Elaine suddenly sat down in the chair he held out for her. She looked across the table into Mrs. Dahlstrom's remote face and started to speak.

Mrs. Dahlstrom checked her. "It stands in the garage most of the time anyway," she said flatly. "You might as well use it. Can't expect others to drive you back and forth. And Tom is too busy to take you down mornings and go after you every evening." Dismissing the entire subject, she bowed her head and said grace.

The next 16 days, when she had time to think about it, Elaine grudgingly admitted that Mrs. Dahlstrom had been right. Tom was too busy. Apparently the whole farm, the barns and the out-buildings, had been neglected during the years he had been at the University and in the Army. Tom was determined to restore everything before the first snowstorm howled out of the north. He got up long before daybreak. Often he was out in the fields before Elaine waked up and she had only a wave of his hand for a good morning kiss.

At night he listened to the newscast, scanned his farm journals for a while, and trudged up to bed.

Elaine had always known this reserved side in Tom's nature, but since they had come home he was downright taciturn. It was as if he, too, sensed the animosity that Elaine knew smoldered in his mother's breast and was going to say nothing that might bring it out in the open or tell Elaine he realized it was there. On several occasions she had noticed him glancing from her to his mother, a baffled look wavering through the affection in his eyes. Usually, he seemed to be waiting philosophically. As he had often said, things usually work themselves out, if you give them time.

Elaine was thankful that good health and exhaustion let her collapse into sleep at night. The days were much more difficult. The knowledge that she, a new graduate with a minimum of experience, was taking the place of a capable teacher twice her age made her try too hard. At the end of each day she was more fatigued than the day before.

Yet she wasn't thankful when the final bell sounded each afternoon. Each time she flipped over a page on Mrs. Farrell's desk calendar, a premonition was that Mrs. Dahlstrom would throw her bodily out of the big white house when she witnessed Elaine's dance at the high school minstrel show.

Elaine could almost see the banked fires in Mrs. Dahlstrom's eyes shoot into flames, the thin, composed face become livid with rage. She had never seen it happen. That made the vision more terrifying. Any sensible person, Elaine told herself, would have refused to perform that silly dance. Yet, a curious mixture of defiance and daring and vanity made her secret rehearsals with Marion the most exhilarating part of the day.

Several times, Elaine was on the verge of telling Tom her secret. But each time, when the words were on the tip of her tongue, it struck her anew how much his eyes were like those of his mother. Elaine was afraid she would see the same sort of disapproval in Tom's eyes that often shone in Mrs. Dahlstrom's. So Elaine kept silent.

On Friday night, Oct. 21, the villagers would learn that Elaine Allen Dahlstrom hadn't worked so hard at the University of Wisconsin that she had forgotten how to dance. And that becoming a Dahlstrom hadn't had such a sobering effect on her that she had traded her natural gaiety for her mother-in-law's stuff.

Should Elaine call it snobbery? (To Be Continued)

Suspend Order To Deport Crooner Dick Haymes

HOLLYWOOD — Dick Haymes and Rita Hayworth cried "tears of joy" over the news that a deportation order against him had been suspended.

The crooner and his actress wife said they were "overwhelmed and speechless." Haymes' Hollywood attorney, David Marcus, said the couple was "crying tears of joy" over the news.

The Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington granted Haymes a temporary reprieve of deportation to his native Argentina Tuesday and scheduled new hearings, to be held in Los Angeles.

The board acted on Haymes' complaint that somebody pretty high made up his mind to "get me" by not informing him about his status as an alien when he visited Miss Hayworth in Hawaii last summer.

The board said that "in view of the nature of the new evidence and the grave charges made" it was instructing Joseph A. Dunne, special inquiry officer at Los Angeles, to reopen the proceedings.

The singer's Eastern attorney, Welburn Mayock, said Haymes was a victim of "a form of entrapment" when he flew to Hawaii to woo Miss Hayworth, now his wife.

or freight rates and Mr. Woods stated the dream of the Saline river transportation to the Ohio river would be a help to the coal industry in Saline county.

He stated his hopes that competition will force railroads to competitive rates for transportation of coal to market.

Mr. Woods stated the Sahara Coal company began its search for new markets and a cheaper preparation of coal in 1936, whereas most companies did not start until after World War II.

He pointed to the new mines which have been opened west of Harrisburg and stated that the Sahara Coal company has acquired acreage for enough reserves to last 50 years.

Report on Junior League
The Sahara Coal company has invested five million dollars in new mines and this investment has been a great stabilizer to Saline county, Mr. Woods stated.

Sam Cape was program chairman for last night's meeting and had as his guests Paul Halbersleben, superintendent of the Sahara Coal company, and John Cape, his son.

Stobart Abney was a guest of Ronnie Doerge, who stated he will be one of the supervisors of the Kiwanis junior baseball league this summer. Mr. Doerge outlined plans for the annual summer program for the youth of the community and stated that besides games scheduled from June 7 until school starts again in September, the Kiwanis program will include two schools weekly to teach the youth how to play baseball.

He also stated the need for sponsors for the boys' baseball teams.

It takes about one-and-one-tenth pounds of coal today, on a national average, to produce one kilowatt hour of electricity; 30 years ago 3 pounds of coal were needed to do the job.

Ordinary farm implements, such as disc harrows and mold-board plows, will not mix soil conditioners uniformly into the soil. Soil conditioners act only on the soil they actually contact.

White Sox Snap Indians' Win Streak; Cardinal Rookie Wally Moon Steals 4 Bases

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The White Sox felt today just like the man who solved a tough jig-saw puzzle and wound up with two left over parts worth more than $100,000.

Just where to fit his expensive new "spares," George Kell and Phil Cavarretta, into the lineup, was a problem that he could pleasantly dream over for another 24 hours because he needed neither in scoring the most important Chicago victory of the season, 4-2 over the Indians Tuesday night.

The White Sox snapped Cleveland's winning streak at 11 games, pitcher Bob Lemon's own personal string at six in a row, and cut their first-place lead to a game-and-a-half. What's more, both third baseman Cass Michaels and first baseman Ferris Fain were key stars in the triumph. They're the fellows who are supposed to get help from Kell and Cavarretta in the "big money" White Sox drive for the flag.

The White Sox went ahead to stay against Lemon in the fifth when Fain singled home a run after Nellie Fox doubled and Michaels and Sherm Lollar followed with singles that produced another. Both played brilliantly as lefty Billy Free struck out seven in achieving his third victory.

The Yankees' bait-a-game behind Chicago, moved to within two games of the front running Indians with a 9-3 triumph at Washington while Detroit beat Baltimore in 12 innings, 5-4, and the Red Sox topped the Athletics 3-2. In the National league, the Giants made it four victories in a row with a 2-1 parade good for a 21-4 victory over the Pirates. Milwaukee won its eighth straight, 3-1 behind Warren Spahn's six-hitter and the Cardinals topped Chicago 9-4 as Wally Moon stole four bases to come that has stood since 1904.

There was little effort involved for Ford in going the route for the first time. The Yankees made 17 hits including a homer and two singles by Mickey Mantle and a triple and single by Hank Bauer for three runs batted in.

Rookie Al Kaline singled and took Detroit's winning run in the 12th after Jim Delsing sent the game into extra frames with a homer in the ninth and Johnny Pesky tied it with another in the 11th. Losing pitcher Joe Coleman homered for Baltimore.

Sammy White hit a ninth inning homer for Boston's victory after hitting into three double plays in a row in his previous times at bat to give Willard Nixon a five-hit triumph over the skidding Athletics. The Giants, just to show the Dodgers where they stand, scored more runs in one game than the Dodgers had picked up in winning four and losing one to Pittsburgh. The Brooks made 19 runs in their five-game series but the Giants went for the whole ball of wax and collected a grand slam homer by Whitey Lockman plus three singles, a three-run homer by Davey Williams plus two singles, five runs batted in by catcher Ray Katt on a triple, double, and single, and a two-run homer and single by winner Johnny Antonelli, who picked up his sixth victory. It was New York's fourth straight win.

Spahn not only hurled his fifth victory but blasted a homer as the Braves made all their runs off loser Herman Wehrer on two round trip swings in the fifth. Rookie Hank Aaron hit the other homer with a man on. Ted Kluszewski hit his 11th homer for the Reds. Moon collected two hits and drove in two runs and also scored on a wild pitch in addition to his merry-go-round of four thefts for the Cards. Winner Harvey Haddix drove in a run with a triple and single while Stan Musial hit a triple, double and single, driving in two runs.

Tuesday's Star: Rookie Wally Moon of the Cardinals who stole four bases, one short of the record set in 1904, had two singles and single while Stan Musial hit a triple, double and single, driving in two runs.

Drops Bill to Divorce Baseball From Breweries

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson threw in the sponge today in his fight to divorce professional baseball from breweries and other commercial enterprises.

Through, the Colorado Democrat said, "I closed up shop yesterday."

Johnson referred to testimony before a Senate judiciary subcommittee at which he again criticized the ownership of the St. Louis Cardinals by Anheuser-Busch brewing interests in St. Louis.

At the same session, August A. Busch Jr., president of the old brewing firm, denied that it has used the Cardinals to secure tax benefits, promote a beer monopoly, or damage the minor leagues.

Two top baseball executives, Commissioner Ford C. Frick and National League President Warren Giles, took rather dim views of Johnson's bill which would apply the federal anti-trust laws to any baseball club owned by a company which is, itself, subject to them.

Stand By Giles
Johnson said today that he will not press for action on that plan. He said his primary interest in proposing it was to "give a warning" to baseball and Congress that its newly-guaranteed exemption from the anti-trust laws may be lost under combinations like the one in St. Louis.

In his first full-dress reply to Johnson's charges Busch asserted that the bill "has all the appearances and the intent of a punitive law."

Giles testified that it's the way the game is played—the players, the pitches and the base-hits—that is important to baseball, not the corporate ownership or even the large personal fortunes of some owners.

He said he does not share Johnson's fears about corporations owning ball clubs. Frick took a similar, but somewhat milder stand.

ANSWERS TO The Sporting News Baseball Quiz: (1) Steve Gromek, Detroit Tigers, had 7 won, 9 lost, record in 1953 — his 1954 mark stood at 7 won, 1 lost, up to May 18. (2) Walter Johnson lost 26, 1 to 0 games in his 21 years in the American League. It may be interesting to note that he won 38, 1 to 0 games. (3) John Vander Meer pitched two consecutive no-hit games, June 11 and 15, 1938. (4) Bob Grove did it twice for the record—the other pitchers only once in a lifetime in the majors. Grove accomplished the feat Aug. 23 and September 27, 1928. (5) Preacher Roe fanned 85, to top Bob Buhl with 83, Ned Garver, 69, and Ed Lopat with 50.

Next week we'll try you on nicknames!

John Romonosky appeared in four games with San Diego, Pacific Coast League, during the week ending Sunday, May 16, according to box scores available in the latest issue of the Sporting News.

His first appearance was a one-inning hitless relief job, later he entered a game as a pinch runner, then hurled a 1 1-3 innings in relief and allowed no hits, but had bad luck in a starting appearance, lasting only 4 2-3 innings and taking the loss.

Big Ten football coaches will get together this week and attempt to draw up grid schedules for the 1957 and 1958. Also on the Big Ten program will be consideration of aid to athletes. A compromise will be attempted between two programs presented by committees appointed to study the matter—one committee has recommended for tightening the present code which limits the amount of aid permitted by scholarship and another committee has suggested more lenient restrictions.

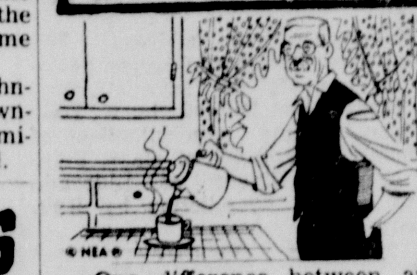

Baseball, which had watched attendance at practically all major league parks go down each year for the past few years, seems to be on the way to a fine season, both on the playing field and also at the box office. Both leagues have tight races at present and attendance is up all over. President Warren Giles of the National League said recently this season may be the best since the boom years directly after World War II.

Eugene Payton, the former Carrier Mills high school flash, holds two SIU stadium track records. Payton is co-holder of the 220-yard dash record with Strusz of Herrin. Payton ran the distance in 1936 in 21.1 and Strusz tied the mark in 1938. Payton also holds the low hurdle mark at 23.9, setting this also in 1936.

Turn Down Only Bid For Used Court House

EDINBURG, Tex. — Commissioners of Hidalgo county Tuesday turned down the only bid they got for a "slightly used courthouse."

The bidder told the county he would charge $22,730 to remove the building from its site in the middle of Edinburg, near the county's new $1,500,000 courthouse.

One difference between an investment and a speculation is that if you won you invested wisely, and if you lost you made a reckless speculation.

Pirates Give Up on Pettit

By LESTER BIEDERMAN
NEA Special Correspondent

PITTSBURGH — (NEA) — Paul Pettit will go down in history as the most expensive flop in the annals of baseball.

The fabulous pitcher, who signed an equally fabulous $100,000 contract with the Pirates in January of 1950, returned just one major league victory for the huge investment. He should have a cast made of his arm and send it to the Hall of Fame.

The Pittsburgh club gave young Pettit every chance to make good in the National League, but somewhere, somehow he injured his left arm. When he reported to New Orleans in the spring of 1950, the fire had gone from his fast ball.

Pettit had been optioned three times and when the Bucs sent him to Hollywood this spring, it meant the end of the road as far as they were concerned.

If, by some miracle, Pettit should regain his speed and the Pirates want him back, he would have to go through the draft. But the major road block is the contract that would have to be assumed if any other club wanted his services. Pettit will receive $5,000 a year through 1959.

Frederick Stephani, a Hollywood agent, evidently saw future greatness in Pettit when he was a schoolboy in Lomita, Calif. High in the late 1940's and signed a contract with the youngster.

Stephani was to guarantee Pettit $85,000, $10,000 right away and $5,000 yearly through 1959, a total bonus of $60,000.

Other commitments Stephani made included:

1—A minimum of $6,000 a year from 1950 through '52.

2—In the event of marriage, Pettit was to receive $750 for a honeymoon. (He married soon after signing and is the father of two.)

3—Pettit's father was to receive $5200 and the attorney who drew up the agreement $1500.

Stephani agreed to produce three movies with Pettit as an actor and the boy was guaranteed $5,000 a picture, plus 10 per cent of the profits. There have been no movies.

Pittsburgh took over this amazing contract for $100,000 and Stephani pocketed $15,000.

Pettit confessed this spring that some where along the line he might have injured his arm, but couldn't recall how or when.

He started quite a few games for the Pirates. His won and lost record was 1 and 2. His over-all card for major and minor leagues was 23-25 prior to 1954. He had a 7.71 earned run average for 28 innings.

COMES TRUE — A $100,000 dream came true when 18-year-old Paul Pettit climbed into a Pittsburgh uniform. (NEA) with Pittsburgh last year. There was talk this spring of converting Pettit to the outfield or first base because of his potentially potent bat.

At last reports, however, the $100,000 bonus baby was sent to Salinas of the Class C California League and at 22 it appears that his extraordinary brief career is behind him.

Paul Pettit has money to comfort him. He got it when the getting was good.

Peabody Postpones Operation of New Mine

TAYLORVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Peabody Coal Co., reporting a loss of $636,855 for the fiscal year ending April 30, today planned to keep working its mine No. 8 at Tovey and postpone operation of a new mine to Nov. 1, 1956.

The company had planned to put a new mine, No. 11 north of here, into operation Oct. 1, 1954. It said No. 8 showed a continued availability of coal and possible economic operation.

Group Approves Hikes in Vet Aid

By United Press

The House Veterans Committee today unanimously approved a cost-of-living increase in compensation and pension payments to veterans and their dependents.

The measure would affect all but a comparative few of the 3,676,872 ex-GIs and dependents on the Veterans Administration rolls as of March 31.

The committee Tuesday approved increases for nearly all disabled veterans and their dependents. Fate of the combined measure in the House is uncertain.

No breakdown of cost estimates was immediately available. But committee sources thought the total boost might be around 230 million dollars a year. On that basis, the proposed boosts would average less than 10 per cent of present payments.

Top British Labor Leaders to Visit
Communist China

LONDON (AP)—Eight top leaders of the British Labor Party today accepted an invitation to visit Red China this fall.

Their acceptance of the invitation represented a resounding propaganda victory for the Chinese Communists who have been wheeling for nine months to get prominent British political leaders to be their guests behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Heading the Laborite delegation will be Clement Attlee, former Laborite Prime Minister whose government in 1950 took the controversial step of recognizing the Red Peiping regime.

Aneurin Bevan, leader of the extreme left wing of the Labor Party and the arch foe of Anglo-American post-war cooperation.

Justice Dep't
Drops Case
Against Lorwin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has decided against seeking a new indictment in the strange case of Val R. Lorwin, former State Department official accused of lying when he denied being a Communist.

Informed sources revealed this today following the sudden dismissal of a December, 1953, indictment because the department's prosecutor committed "irregularities" in presenting the case to a grand jury.

The department itself asked for the dismissal Tuesday and ordered the prosecutor, 53-year-old William A. Gallagher, suspended indefinitely. Because of Gallagher's actions, Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III said it would be "unfair" to continue the case under the old indictment.

He declined to say whether the government would ask for a new indictment before another grand jury. But reliable sources revealed he has no intention of doing so.

Lorwin, at present a University of Chicago professor, was "No. 64" on the list of 81 alleged government subversives cited by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) in his first Senate speech on the issue in 1950. He also is the only one of the group ever indicted.

He resigned from the State Department in 1952 after its loyalty board cleared him of loyalty and security charges. But he was indicted in December on charges that he made a false statement when he told the board he neither was a Communist party member nor held a party meeting at his house in 1935 when he first joined the government.

Reds May Be Using American-Made Arms to Charge Plot in Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic sources revealed today that the Communists may be using American-made arms to make it look as if the United States is plotting to overthrow the Guatemalan government.

They said there are reports that some of the guns recently shipped from Communist Poland to Red-tinged Guatemala bear U. S. markings. They presumably came from lend-lease stocks given Russia during World War II.

The Communist idea, the sources suggested, would be to plant the American-made weapons in the hands of foreign agents in Guatemala and then charge them with plotting against the Guatemalan government.

Anti-American Feelings

Because of the sensitivity of Latin Americans to U. S. intervention in their affairs, the plot story if it could be made to stick might fan anti-American feelings and prove very troublesome at a critical time.

Authorities said that only a small portion of the arms were American-made. The remainder are believed to have been manufactured in Czechoslovakia's Skoda munitions works.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) meanwhile called for an urgent study of the whole arms program by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said the arms shipment to Guatemala "is as if a Soviet ship brought an atom bomb in her hold and berthed in a ship in New York harbor calmly confident that at any time it could blow up the city."

Panama Canal Threat

The shipment of Communist arms to Guatemala also has touched off a new wave of deep concern among U. S. officials. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said one possible objective of the shipment could be to build up a military bastion near the vital Panama Canal.

State Department experts have long known that Russia was trying to build a beachhead in the Western Hemisphere. If successful almost in America's "backyard," the campaign would be a major propaganda victory for the Soviet Union and a serious setback for the United States.

Fourth Mine to Close at Gillespie

GILLESPIE, Ill. (AP)—The last of four coal mines once operated in this area will close June 1. Fred Pfahler, president and superintendent of the Superior Coal Co., announced Tuesday.

He said coal consumption had dropped and the firm could no longer afford to operate the mine, No. 4 at Wilsonville. It will take eight to nine months to dismantle the mine equipment and sell it for scrap, he said.

The mine was sunk in 1914. Three other mines, all sunk in 1903, either have halted operations or will be closed completely in the next month.

About 350 men are employed in the mines now, compared to 4,450 when they operated at their peak.

Scout Troop 23
Returns 'Home'

Boy Scout Troop 23 returned "home" last night.

Troop 23, sponsored by the Presbyterian church, has always met in the lower rooms of the church, but after the church burned more than a year ago the troop meetings were held in the Horace Mann school and troop equipment was stored in various homes.

Last night the troop met for the first time in the recently rebuilt Presbyterian church and were welcomed back with many of the elders and deacons of the church present. Atty. George Lee, active in scouting for many years and a member of the Presbyterian church, was spokesman for the church.

One room has been set aside for the scouts and keys to the room were presented to Francis Jahn, scoutmaster. Troop equipment will be stored in the room as soon as shelving can be installed.
